

Just in time for Valentines

AlvegoRoot Theatre opens season with new production of february: a love story

From February 9th to 12th AlvegoRoot Theatre will present a new live production of London raised playwright Ellen Denny and Emilio Vieira's romantic comedy february: a love story at The Manor Park Memorial Hall. The production is directed by Katy Clark and is performed by Kydra Ryan and Adam Corrigan Holowitz

Originally created during the COVID-19 as a filmed production; the play examines the challenges of two mismatched millennials trying their hand at 'short distance dating' to stave off the pandemic blues. But can they keep things from getting complicated, when he's looking for feelings and she's looking for a rebound...

"This project started with an Instagram DM during the height of pandemic isolation, and has grown further than my co-creator Emilio and I could have imagined, reaching digital audiences around the world! However, there is an undeniable magic in performing this hilarious and relatable love story for a live audience, and we are thrilled this new production will bring Londoners together to share in laughter and some midwinter romance." – Ellen Denny, co-playwright of february february: a love story kicks off AlvegoRoot Theatre's 2023 Season, which is the company's 15th Anniversary Season. AlvegoRoot presents and develops plays by local playwrights about London Ontario and the surrounding region.

Performance Details:

February 9 at 7:30 PM
February 10 at 7:30 PM
February 11 at 3:00 PM
February 12 at 3:00 PM

Location: Manor Park Memorial Hall, 11 Briscoe Street West

Tickets: $25

Tickets can be purchased at: www.alvegoroottheatre.com

For more information or to set up an interview please contact:

Adam Corrigan Holowitz

519-615-2210

adamcorriganholowitz@gmail.com

Production photos are available now by request.